Houseplant Appreciation Week 2021

plants@work's calendar includes a series of dedicated weeks throughout the year. We've kicked off January with Houseplant Appreciation Week from 10 – 15 January. This follows on from the American one day celebration of the same name and coincides with Houseplant Week UK.

Our mission throughout this week is to promote the amazing benefits of houseplants which have made a big come-back in terms of popularity – although of course we've always been in love with them.

We are promoting their many benefits daily via our website and social media platforms. We also have a section on our website which lists much of the collected research over the years plus a section which shows our various publications some of which are downloadable.

We have also published a list of our up and coming monthly dedicated weeks to various topics throughout the year for anyone who wishes to add them to their diaries. These include:

February 8 – 12	Communing with nature week
March 8 – 12	Gardens, roofs, balconies particularly around offices week
April 12 -16	Green walls week
May 10 – 15	Big interior trees week
June 14 – 18	Favourite Office Plant 2021 week
